

The ability to communicate is one of life's greatest gifts. At The Children's Institute of Pittsburgh, we are happy to assist even more school-aged children improve these skills by offering Speech Language Teleservices for the 2023–24 academic year.

These services are designed to help school districts across Pennsylvania fill the gaps within your current Speech Language program by providing access to trained, licensed, and certified speech language therapists.

Our experts will provide virtual therapy directly in your classrooms throughout the day at times that are convenient for both teachers and students. By utilizing these teleservices, your school district will benefit from effective, flexible, and affordable options that best meet the needs of your students.

For more than 120 years, The Children's Institute has been an amazing resource for children and we look forward to helping students in your district reach their goals.

Why Speech Language Teleservices?

- Over the past few years, students have experienced more developmental delays from loss of learning and social interactions due to the impact of the pandemic.
- Teleservices eliminate traditional barriers by providing schools and students with access to important Speech Language therapies via a computer or mobile device.
- The shortage of speech language therapists has presented schools with a challenging hiring landscape. Our teleservices eliminate those staffing challenges by providing remote access to highly trained experts.

Benefits of The Children's Institute:

- Expertise – all of our Speech Language therapists are trained, licensed, and certified, and supported by a team leader with more than 20 years of experience
- Filling a Need – we can help “fill the gaps” in your current Speech Language program as well as the gaps within students’ individualized education program (IEP)
- Affordability – program fees are far more cost-effective than recruiting and hiring a full-time Speech Language therapist for your district
- Flexibility – telehealth therapies are offered throughout the school day, to best meet the needs of the students
